Boys Gain Equality

This year the Lexian staff decided to break tradition and choose eight most photogenic seniors, instead of just senior girls. They were chosen from the senior pictures received by the staff before February 24, 1977.

Mr. Earl Parks, consultant for the American Yearbook Co., chose the top twenty seniors. Mayor Richard Porter of Mansfield chose the eight most photogenic seniors.

Faculty And Administration

"The old campus-type school will be but a memory."—J. Daley

The class of 1977 will have the unique distinction of being the last class to graduate from the Lexington High School as it now exists. In the summer of 1977, construction crews will move onto the campus and begin construction and remodeling. The old campus-type school will be but a memory. Those who follow you at Lexington High will enjoy better facilities. But, as always, the students are Lexington School's most valuable product. With faith in your ambitions and a determination to succeed, you can overcome any obstacle; you can conquer any problem.

Congratulations to Mrs. Ann Ackerman on her 25 years of superb teaching at LHS.

Mrs. Ackerman received a B.A. in English at Wooster College and her Masters in British Literature at Ohio State.

At LHS, she has taught French 1 & 2 for six years and also English 9, 10, 11, 12. Former students remember her as a lively informed, demanding teacher.

Mrs. Ackerman started the Hi-Times twenty years ago. As a paper written and published in class, the Hi-Times for twelve years has received the All-American from the National Scholastic Press Association.

Upon retiring, she would like to teach a creative writing course to the top writers at LHS. Mrs. Ackerman hopes to publish some of her writings and to travel, especially to England.

Mrs. Ackerman--LHS administrators, teachers, and students are grateful for having known you.

Math Memories

That's What Education Means—

To Be Able To Do What You've Never Done Before.

Students in the Lexington schools can take algebra in grade 8 and therefore graduate with five credits in math. Those students who wish to, compete in a statewide math contest. Lexington High School students yearly rank high among Ohio Schools.

Vocational Studies Boom

Inspired by the passage of the BOND-ISSUE, the teachers in the industrial art dept. are working on plans for their new rooms.

This year teachers tried to incorporate into the curriculum two types of classes: one concentrating on training for technical schools, and the other for work experience and general knowledge.

The Home-Ec. classes were lengthened to meet state time requirements. They follow their own six-period-a-day schedule.

Senior--Home-Ec. has mostly boys and is a basic survival course. As part of a child-development study, all classes are active in the annual play-school for pre-schoolers.

P.E. Sees New Faces, New Changes

LHS added three new faces to the Phys. Ed. and Health staff: Ron Barbo, Robert Howell, and Marcia Ramsey.

Under Title IX of the 1972 Educational Amendment, educational activities are not to be provided separately on the basis of sex. LHS met the requirement by going to co-educational classes so it would not lose federal funding. Some students really liked co-ed classes; some did not.

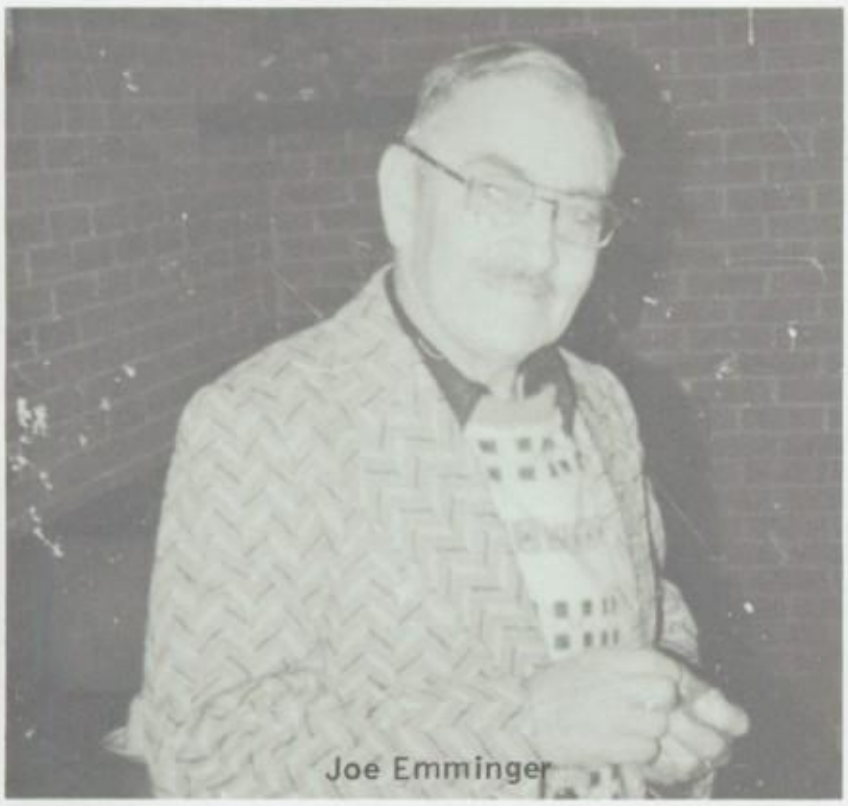
Cooks, Custodians, Bus Drivers Congenial



Joe Emminger

Cooks, custodians, and bus drivers serve students every day in many ways. They act as friends, help distressed students open jammed lockers, and give away leftover food to hungry students.

Many students will especially remember Joe Emminger. Mr. Emminegr retired this year after ten years at LHS as a custodian and twenty-three years as a bus driver. Students will remember Joe for his large signed paddle and "World's Greatest Bus Driver" plaque.

Team Moves With Speed And Aggression

With ten returning Seniors (six started first string), Coach Bill Stoner conducted his fighting minutemen to a 4-5-1 record for the 1977 season. Led by co-captains Bob White and Andy Auer, the team fought with swift running games and heavy offensive blocking. Steve Bail made the All JAC team. Kicker teammates Steve Schmalenberger and Bob White made the all JAC Defensive Team and six other minutemen were given honorable mentions. Coach Bill Stoner was aided by Assistant Coaches. Volleyballers Finish Faultless Season

The girls' Varsity Volleyball team, coached by Ann Wilson, completed the '76 season with a perfect record of 13-0. The Volleyballers breezed through Sectional tournaments (first year in AAA) and, for the second consecutive year, became Sectional Champs by defeating Galion and Vermillion. In District play the varsity team fell to Findlay, ending their season with an overall record of 15-1.

The Varsity team voted sophomore Marty Bechtler as Most Improved Player.

The Reserves ended their season with a respectable record of 6-7. Wendy Schmittke coached the all-freshman--and--sophomore team. The Madison game highlighted the season, but the Ramettes managed to top the Minutemaids.

Cheerleaders Provide Spirit And Support.

Despite the near freezing temperatures during football season, the cheerleaders enthusiastically led the cheering fans. They kept spirits high during our successful basketball season.

Camp helped to teach the girls new routines and cheers. The Varsity squad went to the University of Cincinnati in August and placed third out of 50 schools. They particularly excelled in performing stacks and pyramids.

The Lexington cheerleaders, with the help of Mrs. Price, held the first annual JAC cheerleading competition. The student body can be proud of the cheerleaders for placing first in the Varsity Competition.

JAC Crown— Nowhere To Stop

Conducted in a hearty season by new coach, Ron Barbo, the 1977 varsity squad won the JAC crown with a record of 12-2. They were on the brink of taking the State Championship but were halted by mighty O'Hara Glendorf with a score of 59-75. The Sectional and District games were easily won, led by the swift feet of Junior guard Chris Shaffer.

CLUBS AND ACTIVITIES

OWE Has Success At LHS

OWE (Occupational Work Experience) was offered for the first time at LHS. It is a work-study program instructed by Stan Lammon.

The students participating must have a driver's license since they have to go to their job as soon as they finish classroom work. They must, however, fulfill the regular requirements to graduate.

This course teaches the relationship between tasks of jobs and economics of earning. Hopefully the students will develop values that will help them in their adult life.

Student Council Has Busy Year

This was the first year that Student Council members were elected from their home rooms. This was also the first time that a member (John Breitinger) was elected to the Board of Education.

Student Council was also involved in the passing of the school-bond issue by passing out flyers. Among other things, they sold doughnuts before school to students who came to school hungry. They also participated in the organizing of the homecoming dance and assembly. Advisors were Mrs. Christi Smith and Mr. Tom Smith.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

New Leadership, New Pride, New Shows

For the third consecutive year the marching band has been under the leadership of a new director. Last year, Tim Swinehart took the post and achieved the task of restoring pride and discipline into the band of gold.

In August, experienced marchers began training the upcoming freshmen for the hard work ahead of them. This was followed by a week of band camp at Camp Pittenger, near Tiffin, Ohio.

After putting most of their show together at camp, the band was ready to start the traditional competitive season. They began by finishing second at the Pickerington Band Festival. Lexington placed third at the Zanesville Bonanza of Bands, second at New Philadelphia, and scored a disputed fourth-place finish at Newark. Lexington competed in the open class in all four festivals. They were unable to host the annual Festival of Champions because of rain and cold weather.

The band spent a good part of the year raising money to buy new uniform jackets. The old jackets were purchased over fifteen years ago and were ragged and torn. Students sold Christmas candles and put on a pop bottle-and-paper drive. Band boosters solicited money from area businessmen and women. In May the band had raised $12,000 of their $14,000 goal.

Jazz Band Trip To Capital Canceled

Engagements at proms and other dances prevented jazz band members from going to two important tournament basketball games so that they could earn money to pay for a trip to Washington D.C.

The jazz band and its director, Tim Swinehart, planned to travel by chartered bus to the capital to compete in the Festival of Nations, and to perform at the Kennedy Center for Performing Arts. The trip was canceled in May.

Other activities this year included playing at the Ohio Northern Jazz Band Festival and the Ashland College Jazz Band Competition. At Ashland, the group finished first out of the fourteen Ohio bands competing. The jazz band ended the school year with a concert featuring Candy Johnson, a professional saxophone player. Audiences requested his third appearance because of hos showmanship, versatility, and tall talent.

Next year looks even brighter for the jazz bnad as only three of the 1976-1977 musicians graduated in June.

Choir Small, Active

Although the Lexington choir was considerably smaller than it had been in previous years, they were a busy group.

The ensemble presented a Christmas musical drama, "One Small Child," in the lecture room in D building. They gave an All-Country-Music Festival at the high school, and later in the year, a pop concert, also at the high school.

Members also enjoyed a pizza party at Mrs. Thomas's home. They froze on a tobaggan party in the winter; they burned on a trip to Cedar Point in the spring.

Booming Sales Aid Lexian

During Nov. 17-23 staff members sold 1977 yearbooks for $8 each. Students saw posters in the halls and heard spot commercials on the daily announcements.

For the first time, on Nov. 22, the Lexian staff had a telephone campaign. Members and advisor met at the school and called students' homes to remind them to bring their money on the last day of the sale.

This book and the theme of "The Way We Were" is an attempt by editors to remember their campus-style school.

Club Redecorates Village Depot

Key Club, under the leadership of its officers, worked to help the school and community. During the Mid-Ohio races they worked by selling programs and working in the food stands. While doing this they could watch the races for free.

They redecorated the Depot in Lexington at the beginning of the year, and finished the year off by having a dinner at the San Dar in Bellville.

Classmates Like Y-Teen Slave Day

One of the big events of Y-Teens this year was "Slave Day". Every year it seems to get more popular. Club members dress in all kinds of costumes doing all kinds of crazy things at command.

Besides holding bake sales and an egg sale to make money for projects, T-Teens worked at "The Store", a charity organization that helped clothe school children.

Senior One-Acts A Hit

For the first time in Lexington's history, the senior class presented 3 one-act plays and performed in a theater-in-the-round. The cast had to manage without a prompter since the audience surrounded the stage.

In the first play, "Not My Cup of Tea," two daughters plot to kill their mother. One bungling burglar and four scatter-brained women made up the comedy "Nobody Sleeps." "Ledge, Ledger, and Legend" featured a suicide and an expert consultant.

Murder Mystery Draws Crowd

On April 21, 22, and 23, the junior class presented "Strangers in the Night," a comical mystery about a murder that is to be committed in a hotel gift shop. Under the direction of Mr. Farris and student director Steve Solomon, the 12-member cast practiced hard for six weeks prior to opening night.

The play starred Jennifer Wirick and Robbie Lichtenstein as co-owners of the gift shop. Steve Brenk, a colorful bell boy, and Blake Walter, a suave reporter captured the male leads.

The play was popular with the public as it drew the largest crowds of any play in Lexington's history.

Julie Packer, as Nona, flirts with the bell boy, Steve Brenk.

Val Dotson plays the physically fit Miss Bender.

259 Graduates Turn Tassels

Sunday, June 5, started cloudy and threatening. Administrators bravely chose to gamble against the rain and set up commencement at Minutemen Field.

Mr. Earnest gave awards; Mr. Novak read the names of graduates; Mr. Knapp handed out diplomas and congratulations; and Mr. and Mrs. Ford gave poses to each senior as he left the platform. Doug Adair of TV3 spoke briefly, cheerfully, about the bright prospects of Lexington 1977 graduates.

Seniors Remember The Way They Were

The class of '77 started out twelve years ago in Western and Central Elementary schools. During their sixth-grade year, because of overcrowding they were divided. The music students and a few others were sent to the high school where they attended classes in C Building. Their classmates met at the Junior High building. The overcrowding was alleviated by new buildings at the junior high--too late for them.

During their freshman year they endured GREAT EXPECTATIONS in English, swimming lessons in gym, and harrassments from seniors.

To raise funds they sold popcorn and ran a coatcheck during basketball games their sophomore year. They endured GATB's and ordered their class rings from Balfour.

As juniors they saw the movie GIVE 'EM HELL, HARRY, enriching their study of the Harry Truman years. Many took PSAT's; a few took SAT's. Most thought about future careers and jobs.

During their last year at Lexington they performed three one-act plays and held their prom whose theme was "A Night On the Town". They exchanged senior-class pictures and plans for the future. Some campaigned for the building levy needed because of overcrowding. It passed--too late for them.

As seniors they went through the change of a AAA school back to AA. They experienced a very cold winter and a natural gas shortage, missing 17 days of school.

They attended government day at Ashland College. Most seniors honored senior-skip day even though the date was changed several times.

They spent much of an early, lovely spring in dull, sleepy, classrooms--suffering from "Common Senioritis"--ending on May 27, their last day of school. They exchanged tearful and cheerful goodbyes at commencement exercises on June 5.

Remember Those Who Left Their Junior Year?

Where did they go? To Pioneer Joint Vocational School. Pioneer provides high-school seniors with the opportunity to receive special training in areas of their interests.

Seniors spend half of their day doing academic subjects and classroom-related work. The remaining half is spent in the lab or on a job related to their program.

Pioneer students also participate at their home school in extra-curricular activities, such as sports, band, and on committees.

MEMORIES--1977

Memories are beautiful and yet, many we want to forget:
Dreams lost; New friendships sought but refused.
Lessons learned, memorized but not yet tested.
Tears, disappointments, wishes that never came true.
Many we want to remember.
Good-bye to our teachers, respected, feared and mocked;
to counselors, cooks, custodians;
to classrooms, books, offices.
We leave and go on but a part of us will remain behind.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Juniors Raffle Microwave And Beef

The class of 1978 supplemented their treasury by raffling off a side of beef and a microwave oven donated by Mr. Pore and Tappan Home Center respectively, adding $2500 to their funds. They also made $500 profit on their prom, and, including profits from concessions, brought their total funds to $5000.

Juniors held their prom at Interstate Motel. "Copperwood" entertained the group.

Some juniors, by passing out pamphlets, helped pass the bond issue.

Sophomores Recall Busy Year

The class of 1979 earned money this year by selling candy bars for 75 cents apiece. They also operated the coat cheack at LHS home basketball games. The class will remember the numerous head shavings for money during the tournament games. Sophomores took the OVIS test to find out what their interests were. This test will help them to choose a job or career when the time comes.

Sophomore Will Remember Winning Junior Achievement Crown For Mansfield Area.

Vicki Smith, a member of the Mansfield Junior Achievement, competed for the Miss Mansfield J.A. title. The competition consisted of taking a general knowledge test in which she missed less than one percent of the questions. The second phase of competition was a private interview with two different judges. The finals were held at the Richland Mall up on stage, where Vicki then was crowned Miss Mansfield Junior Achievement. She then competed for Miss North Central Ohio J. A. at the Mall again, but was defeated by Miss Shelby.

Two Sophomores Are Honored

The Mansfield Businessmen's Assoc. again chose two outstanding sophomores. Their choices were Rick Ryan and Gail Paul.

Gail is a member of the Hi-Times staff, German club, and supports many political organizations outside of school. Rick is the president of his class. He is involved in many sports such as football, tennis, track, and also is a member of Key Club.

Freshmen Earn More Money Than Any Previous Class

In one year, the prosperous class of 1980 made more money on projects than any other previous class from Lexington. Freshmen sold $5000 worth of magazine subscriptions to Lexington, Mansfield, and the surrounding communities.

Co-ed gym came to Lexington, and the class of 1980 was the first to experience this program which has proved successful in other schools in and around Richland county.

Teresa Box, treasurer of the freshmen class, was the first girl in Lexington's history to qualify and place at the Girl's District Track Meet. Teresa placed sixth in the high hurdles event.

Renee Haip, skier, was pictured in OHIO SPORTS WORLD.

All Freshmen took the GATB and the Iowa Basic Skills Test.

Frosh Are First To Experience Co-Ed Gym

The class of 1980's gym students are the first to experience co-ed gym at Lexington. Lexington adopted the program after area high schools proclaimed it's success.

Frosh play much of the same games that past gym classes played with the exception of wrestling.

A. Coach Barbo assists frosh in gymnastics.

Freshmen Year Memorable to Many

Many new everyday high school events made the class of 1980's freshman year memorable.

Everyday occurences such as snow jobs, smoke bombs during lunch, having real children for the family part of Home-ec, and being threatened by upperclassmen made their frosh year memorable.

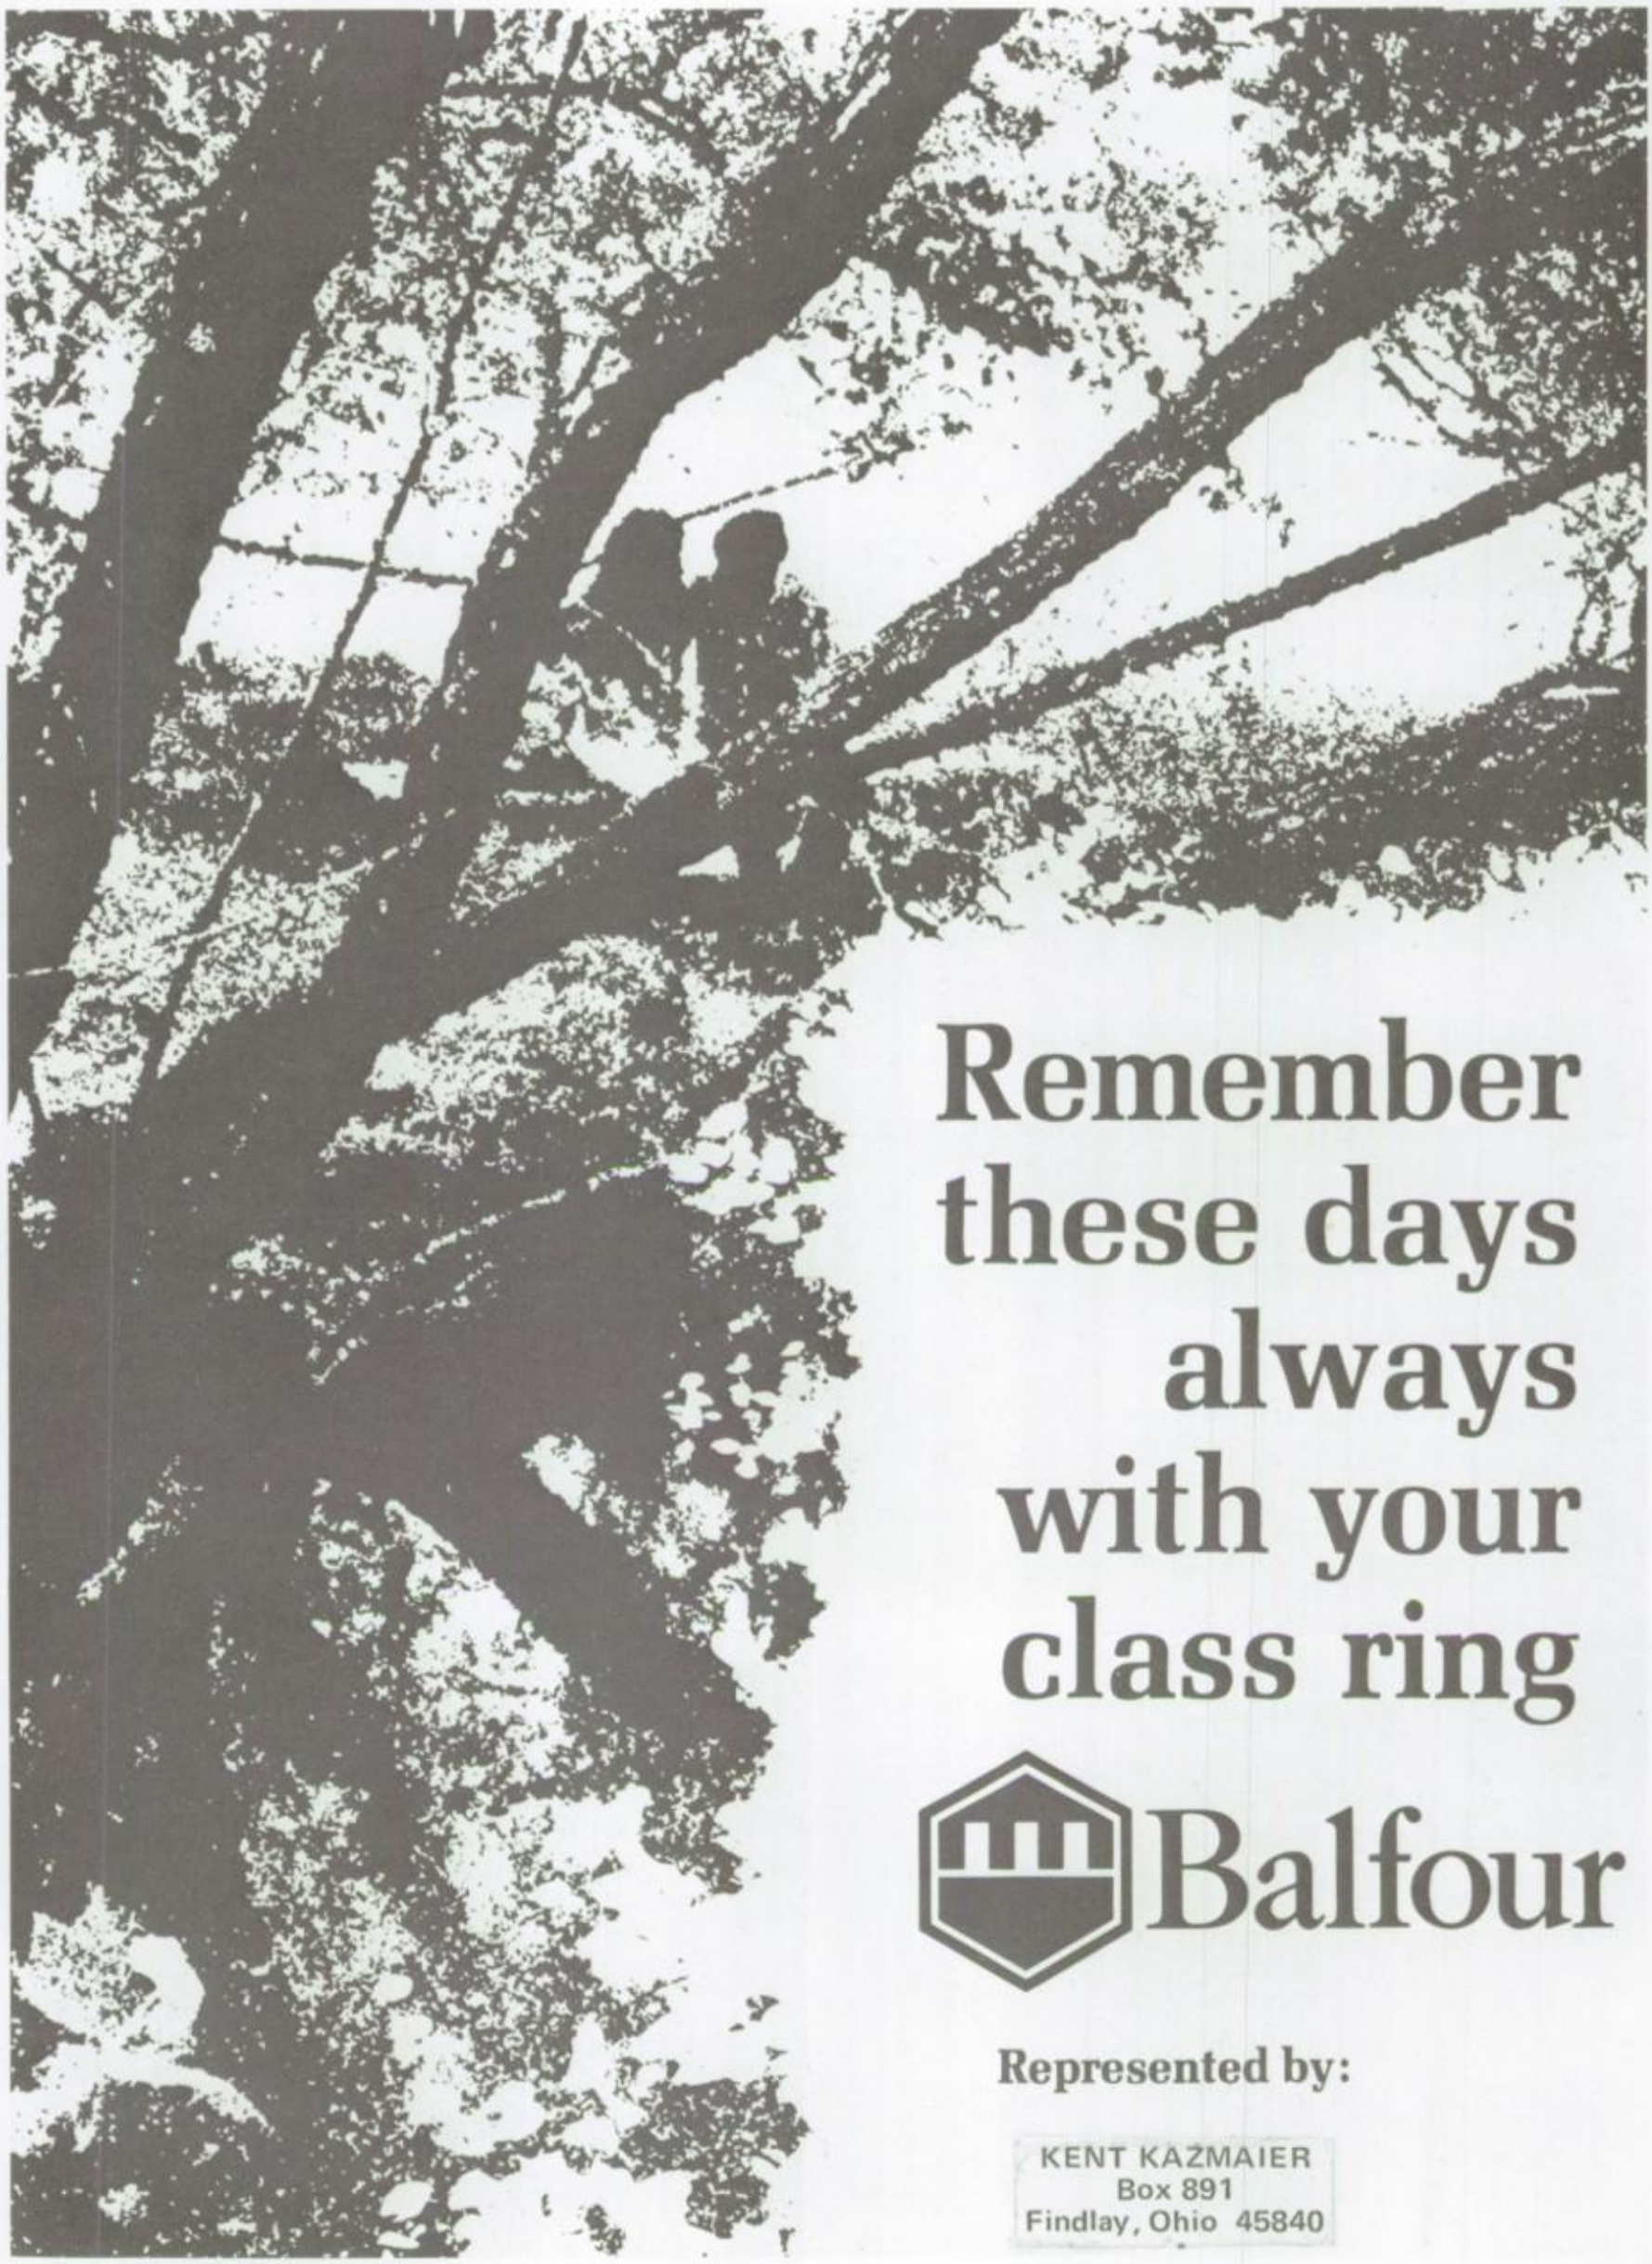
DESPITE THE POMP, GRADUATION IS A GREAT CIRCUMSTANCE TO BE IN

Sure, you cracked bad jokes. Slyly elbowed a classmate or two. Yawned through the speech. But admit it. When your name rang out from the diploma and dignitary-loaded platform (provoking cheers from a small, yet discriminating section of the audience), you felt proud. And we're proud of you, too.



Remember these days always with your class ring

The Way We Were

Mem'ries light the corners of my mind.
Misty water-color mem'ries of
  The way we were.

Scattered pictures of the smiles we left behind,
Smiles we gave to one another for
  The way we were.

Can it be that it was all so simple then,
Or has time rewritten ev'ry line?
If we had the chance to do it all again
Tell me—Would we? Could we?

Mem'ries may be beautiful, and yet,—
What's too painful to remember,
We simply choose to forget.

So it's the laughter we will remember,
Whenever we remember,
  The way we were,
  The Way We Were.
